Dear Mrs Blackman

We are writing to congratulate you and the school on the result of your Ofsted inspection which was published recently. To have maintained the overall 'Good' judgement is a very notable achievement.

We thoroughly enjoyed reading the report. It is clear that the leaders have created a unified, safe, secure and well ordered place for pupils to learn and prepare for their next steps. As a result of the improved assessment system, pupils are achieving better results at the end of their time in the school with many pupils achieving grades at GCSE, enabling them to get off to a good start with college courses and further training.

Please pass our congratulations to your staff, governors, pupils and parents for their efforts in achieving this important judgment for the school.

With best wishes

Yours sincerely
